PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE • JOHN BEECHWOOD

Wow, where did February go?

We are making progress with the transition although it's been a slow process. I keep wondering what I'm forgetting. If there is something that needs attention please reach out to me. Again please use the subject line so your issue doesn't get lost in the process.

The first thing we need to do at the meeting on March 7, is vote for the President and Vice President positions to make them official. We will see if we can allow those on the zoom to vote. If you are interested in nominating someone or running yourself, please attend the meeting.

We have made progress on the Education Director position, and we provide more updates as things solidify.

I think we have the Web Master covered for now, however this is something that we might need more help with. If this is your area, please contact Tammi or me.

We are desperately looking to fill very critical positions!

Lead for the AV. We have had some problems with interfacing with the MAC system and need help getting this all fixed and reliable. We also need to have a group so that if someone can't attend, we have the depth to cover it. Please send me an email with the subject line NWWT AV Group and list what you can do in the email.

AAW's Annual Symposium – in Portland Registration is open, and details were sent out a few weeks ago. We have 28 members on the list for the club to receive an additional $40 discount. See the article below. I sent an email to those I have on the list. If you did not get the email please let me know ASAP. The deadline for this was set at Jan 31. If you already registered please send me an email with the subject AAW Club discount already registered. I have talked to the AAW about making adjustments to ensure you are getting the best value available. I will follow up with this in mid-March.

NWWT has awarded four scholarships for people who need it. They will be notified confidentially.

AAW's Call for Videographers. See the article below for details and how to apply. For general volunteering, AAW will open the volunteer lists in early 2024 – watch your AAW emails.

Open Shop – March 9th. Stock up on supplies. We have a ton of green blanks that are sealed, and most are rough cut into blanks. As always, they are priced aggressively low. Students from the one-day Stuart Batty class should take advantage of Open Shop to practice what they learned. See you there.

See more information on the show HERE (but do not register). Please send an email HERE if you want to be included in the NWWT booth.

AAW SYMPOSIUM RAFFLE • ROGER CROOKS

AAW International Symposium — May 23-26 2024 at the Oregon Convention Center

AAW SYMPOSIUM UPDATE • DALE LARSON

We had an AAW symposium committee meeting Feb 20th. We are three months from the symposium here in Portland. The registration numbers are looking very good. There should be a good turnout. There are a great bunch of demonstrators and variety of topics being covered. The demonstration schedule is done and is being polished up. It should be posted on the AAW website shortly. I know some members have been waiting to look at the schedule before committing where to volunteer during the symposium. I know from past symposiums it simply takes a lot of volunteer help to make the symposium a success. If everyone helps a little, the work gets done.

Signing up to volunteer is easy. Go to the AAW website <https://www.woodturner.org/> and click on the symposium logo. Then scroll down and click on volunteer, then "Sign Up". It will take you to Sign Up Genius where all the committees are listed. See where you are interested and sign up.

There are a couple of areas we could use some help on.

Videographers. This is the one area of volunteer help that comes with a free registration. If you have experience as a videographer and are interested contact Tom Lawson at morningstar_family@yahoo.com. Tom is the national lead on videographers, and Steve Walgrave is the local lead.

The Youth Turning Room is a great place to help young turners get some time on the lathe. It takes a lot of hands to help on each lathe. The reward is that it brings a big smile to these young faces. Larry Curry is the local lead. You can go directly to Sign Up Genius or contact Larry at lcurry@aol.com.

If your spouse will be at the symposium we have a couple of areas that they can help with if they like keeping busy. If your spouse is craft oriented, we have a space for spouses to meet and work on craft projects. They can help organize projects or just be a good host to out-of-town spouses. The AAW merchandise booth sells AAW t-shirts, books and the like. We could use some help there.

From personal experience I can tell you that volunteering at the AAW symposiums over the past 17 years has changed my life. I now have friends all over the country and around the world. Volunteering brings you into contact with some wonderful and talented turners. You will develop life long friends. And these contacts can pay off for your chapter. You find out which demonstrators like to travel and it gives you a chance to ask them to come to your chapter.

If you have any questions feel free to contact me at woodbowl@frontier.com

MARCH DEMONSTRATOR • KEVIN JESEQUEL • HOLLOWFORMS

At this month's meeting, we are excited to have club member, Kevin Jesequel demonstrate the process he uses to create hollowforms with small openings.

He will go through wood selection, initial orientation on the lathe, focus on form, specific tools, and a myriad of other useful knowledge on achieving success in turning a hollowform.

Kevin has had the honor of being selected for the AAW's Professional Outreach Program (POP) and will have his work showcased at this year's Symposium here in May.

You will NOT want to miss his exciting and comprehensive demonstration this month!

NEW TURNERS COMPLETE "BASICS BOOT CAMP" • DAVE WOOD

Several new members got their first good look at lathes, grinders, gouges, and the necessary accessories and gadgets on February 17th and 18th.

Saturday's Spindle Turning Basics class included Ron Klug, Jerry Klug, Owen James, Don Jensen, Terry Nefcy, Maria Osornio, and Kevin Reed. They turned "beads-and-coves" sticks first thing in the morning, their first in most cases. We encourage new turners to learn spindle turning techniques first, as the same skills carry through to bowl turning. After all, it's all about learning how to cut side grain and end grain in different positions.

The A/B/C rule, Ancor the tool/find the Bevel/Cut was demonstrated by Steve Newberry, Lead Instructor for the day. The basics of spindle turning require a lot of body movement and muscle-memory development with simultaneous lifting, rotation, and twisting of tool handles. It takes practice, but the investment in time is worth it, especially considering the reduction in blood pressure and the increase in smile ratio! 😊

NEW TURNERS COMPLETE "BASICS BOOT CAMP" • (CONT'D)

Our goal is for everyone to take something home they make in class. Since spring is just around the corner, and seeds need to go into the ground soon, we thought a "dibble" would be the perfect take-away.

Each student successfully turned a dibble, including burning on the depth marker stripes by cutting a v-groove and holding a piece of copper wire in the groove for friction heat...proof that we don't just make piles of shavings.

NEW TURNERS COMPLETE "BASICS BOOT CAMP" • (CONT'D)

Sunday brought a new crowd for the Bowl Turning Basics class, including Ruth Warbington, Chris Erdman, David and Maria Rehbach, Erin McNamara, Maria Hagland, and Terry Nefcy came back for more. Dave Wood and John Beechwood served as Lead Instructors, and Mike Meredith, Jim Schoeffel, and Skip Burke filled the ranks as coaches.

We had plenty of wood for bowl blanks, thanks to the wood-cutting and prepping parties of recent weeks, and each student took a couple extras home to practice. We mounted blanks between centers to begin, explaining the flexibility of this technique for balancing the wood for shape and design features.

On our breaks, we talked about tools and equipment to buy – and not buy. It's tough to digest everything in the first class, but our manuals include a ton of information for later reference. It's also hard to ask questions on day one when "you don't yet know what you don't know". With our dedicated Instructor Corps members, questions are always welcomed – before, during, and after classes. Sharing and Educating is our prime mission.

Some very nice bowls were cut and completed on Sunday. Our wood was a bit wet, so sanding wasn't practical, but scraping worked well. We applied walnut oil and a little friction heat to burnish the surfaces.

Both classes were full with 7 students. We continue to strive for as close to one-on-one student to coach ratio as we can get. We feel strongly that having a coach at your side speeds the learning process by eliminating bad habits before they start. We also avoid some dangerous situations that way.

NEW TURNERS COMPLETE "BASICS BOOT CAMP" • (CONT'D)

Woodturners develop styles of their own as their skills improve. The same has happened with our instructors and coaches. So, if you get a slightly different answer from one coach versus another, try to remember that there are generally many ways to get the same result.

As all of us progress, we need to know more than one way to make a certain cut or scrape because each piece of wood is different, equipment is different, and each project is different.

If you think we must all use the same process for woodturning, ask yourself, "How do left-handed turners do this on a lathe made for right-handed people?" That changes all the rules, but bowls and spindles still get turned!

Happy Turning,

—Dave

MARCH WOOD REPORT • MARK McNAMARA

In the ensuing fallout from January's storm, I was braced for a flood of calls and emails about downed trees. Oh, sure, the carnage sent us a few choice trees (I managed to get some cherry and white oak) but in my travels down to Portland and Beaverton, I was struck by just how many of the trees were coniferous.

With all the beautiful hardwood species we have here, I've not been tempted to haul any of that home, but it got me wanting to learn more about the conifers that are worth putting on the lathe.

I've only turned yew which was beautiful but with all the knots, it was hard to know how to attack the thing without constantly turning end grain. I've heard good things about sequoia, some types of cedar and even doug fir.

Enough about firewood! We had a great haul of black walnut come into the club store in February. The tree was located in inner SE Portland and was luckily taken down before the storm in January. This thing was big, and one of the two main trunks was starting to show signs of rot on one side.

The property housed a large old Victorian home that had been made into 12 apartments. All the tenants were really great about leaving the parking open around the home. We were able to get our trucks right up onto the driveway. Everything from spindle blanks to 10-18+" bowl blanks are available now at Dave Wood's shop.

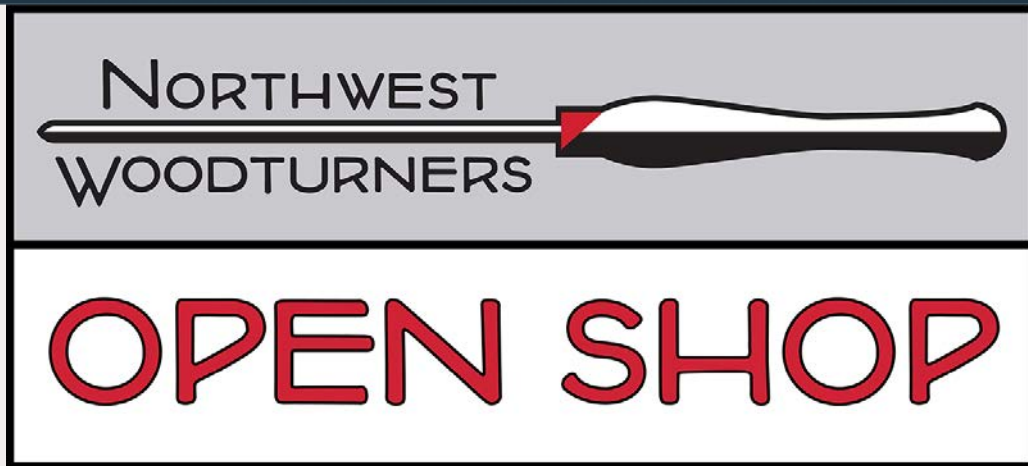

Big thanks to the following members for helping with the job!

Glen N, Tyler P, Jason G, Steve C, Don J, Danny B, Mat, Vern O, Doug P, Don J, Roger M, Sean B, Matthew W

LIFE OF A 100-YEAR-OLD DOUGLAS FIR • ROGER CROOKS

Back in 1986, when we built our house, our trees suffered construction damage due to topsoil erosion. Took three years to bring them back to health, and since then we have an arborist check them out every year. Last fall, all of our trees were healthy and strong. Three months later, Mother Nature had a different idea.

On January 6 the storm's massive winds uprooted a healthy, 100' tall, one hundred-year-old Douglas Fir with a 50" base (Fig. 1). It missed our house (Fig. 2) by 3', but took out three levels of decks (Fig. 3), broke windows and punctured our roof. It also snapped another large Doug Fir (Fig. 4) about 15' up its trunk which was incredible.

All in all, we were lucky that it did not hit the house (or my shop!). The moral of this story is life can change overnight. It did for me at the end of December. Today, after almost a month in the hospital and a rough month at home, I can walk again (with a cane), but full recovery will not be until this summer. Thanks for all the nice emails.

—Roger

VENDOR SPONSORS ARE KEY TO OUR SUCCESS!

A key component of our financial stability as a club is our vendor sponsors. Our vendors provide periodic gift certificates for the raffle and our annual auction. In addition we receive product donations from some of them. If that were not enough, some also give individual discounts to club members. All this contributes to our financial health. We encourage all of you to patronize our vendor sponsors. It is good for you, good for them, and good for the club.
